FRIGHTFUL LOSSES IN DEATH HEAD HUSSAR.

Crown Prince Frederick William Was Attached to the Death Head Hussars While at Danzig. He Preferred These Troops to All Others and Considered the Regiment His Own.

Of this famous body of German horsemen, which comprised the flower of the Kaiser's cavalry, but 50 men are still living. They lost heavily in battles in Belgium.

JEWEL VICTIM FOUND

LOST R STOLEN COTTON CLOPPERS POOR

The identity of the woman who arrived here from Europe yesterday, lost from her automobile at 1100 Mass. of Jewels, for which $100 reward is offered, became known today. She is Mrs. George H. Brown of New York, sister-in-law of Mr. Nicholas Brown.

Mrs. George H. Brown arrived yesterday on the Canopic, accompanied by her maid. She was met at the Commonwealth Hotel, South Boston, by Mrs. John Nicholas Brown and Mr. Kattinson of Providence, a friend, she came in an automobile.

She had brought Mrs. George H. Brown's handbag to the car at the Jewel case was carefully placed in the machine. These two cars started to the Copley Plaza Hotel, carrying the two Mrs. Brown, Mr. Kattinson, maid and chauffeur.

Toward the end of the ride something was made that the Jewel case, with all its contents, was gone. Immediately the car was searched. The maid was not to be found.

SEARCH IS FORTH.

She party then continued to the hotel. Mrs. George H. and her maid searched the hotel, but the Jewel case was not found. The maid was not found. The Jewel case was not found.

Kaiser Reported Seriously Ill and in Care of Specialist

THE HAGUE, Sept. 25.—Reports declared to have come from a reliable source state that Emperor William of Germany is seriously ill at the headquarters of the general staff in Luxembourg; and that a specialist has been summoned from Berlin to care for him.

His illness is said to have begun with a cold that he caught when he visited soldiers in the trenches during a heavy rain to speak words of cheer to them and was himself stricken. The cold aggravated the affliction from which he has suffered for many years, according to reports received here, and as the physicians of the Red Cross were unable to give them relief, a specialist was called.

(A dispatch from Berlin on Thursday said it was announced there that the Kaiser was in good health and spirits.)

It is said that the Emperor is suffering from severe fits of coughing that prevents him getting any sleep.

GERMANS RUSH BIG SEGE GUNS TO BATTER FORTS

With the battering down of the mighty French fortresses of Verdun as their immediate objective, the Germans are pushing a new offensive movement in the effort to break the allies' long battle line and advance again toward Paris.

Great German siege guns have been rushed forward from Metz, and the artillery duel of the Verdun battle, in which frightful losses are already reported, will be continued "until something breaks."

Other outstanding facts in today's war news are the reported serious illness of Emperor William; the continued advance of the Russians in Galicia; the seizure of German New Guinea by the British and the appearance of a fleet of thirty unknown warships in the Kattegat, an arm of the North Sea, off Sweden.

NEW BRITISH TROOPS LANDED.

A Paris official report issued this afternoon says heavy fighting is going on at both ends of the great battle line in France. On the left wing the allied troops are being opposed by German reinforcements coming by way of Liege to aid Von Klueck.

On the right wing the Germans occupy the East Heights of the Meuse and are marching toward St. Mihiel. French forces occupy the opposite heights before Verdun. The situation in the centre is unchanged. Fresh British forces are said to have been landed in France.

These dispatches attest the desperate nature of the battle around Verdun.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Reliable reports reaching Paris today which have not yet been officially confirmed, state that the Germans have lost thirty thousand in assaults against the forts at Verdun, ten thousand of these being killed and twenty thousand wounded. The Germans sustained the heaviest losses in fighting which has followed sorties of the French army from the forts surrounding the

BRAVES IN 2 GAMES

There's hardly a thing left to the little old National League race now, but the shooting. The Braves have it all sewed up in a knot. They lead by seven full games. If they can do just a little better than break practically even and win eight of the fifteen battles they have left, the Giants can't catch them, even if they win every game they play from now to the end of the season. With Lube Marquard on the staff that is a patent impossibility.

Referring again to the temperamental Lube, we put all such items out of mind.

Any one who has seen Tyler, James and Lube working in the last few weeks can understand why even the National League officials here in Boston, who have forced themselves to be pessimistic, have at last started to make definite arrangements for the big series.

The tie game yesterday, necessitates another double-header today.

Woman's Leg Broken by Kick of Horse

Mrs. Dorothy Young was kicked in the left leg by a horse at Wilson & Tisdale's stable, No. 11, Dorchester avenue, South Boston, today. Relief Hospital surgeons found both bones of the leg broken. Mrs. Young is twenty-one years old and lives at No. 44 Eastcott street, South Boston.

Runaway Was Going to Fight the Kaiser

Arthur Jean Maynard of Providence, asleep belted loose on Long wharf, was routed out early today by Patrolman Farwell. Arthur said: "I am on my way to fight for the allies. I live at No. 5 May street, Providence."

The State Board of Charities will send him home. He is fourteen years old.

GIRLS HELD FOR THEFT

Two girls, who the police say are about the cleverest shoplifters they have ever seen—Ethel Busher of No. 9 New street, East Boston, and Florence Bennett of No. 118 London street, East Boston—were arraigned today before Judge Duff on a charge of shoplifting and held in $500 each till Tuesday.

The girls, nineteen and eighteen respectively, furnished bail and were released. Joseph Santonico is their attorney.

The two are remarkably pretty and attracted a deal of attention in court and as they were leaving the building they were followed by a crowd of onlookers. When arrested by Inspectors Tilton and McCarthy through the detective work of Ethel Lagerson and Carrie Huxford, store detectives, they gave false names, and said they lived in Somerville. Their families are well known in East Boston.

In the girl room at No. 41 Dartmouth street the police say they found an amazing amount of stolen goods, and representatives of different department stores identified many of these articles today.

ALL AMERICA IS BUYING A BAL OF COTTON. IT IS ESTIMATED THAT 1,000,000 BALS HAVE BEEN SOLD THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES AND ORDERS ARE STILL POURING IN.

In Boston and New England the "buy a bale of cotton" movement has met with an enthusiastic response.

Today the Filena store carried under the banner of helping our southern neighbors and put a big bale of cotton in one of the big windows of the store.

It was a hard job to get the bale of cotton into the window, as the line was not made for such a big job. The Filena people were right in the job with an idea. They cut out the entire pane of window glass and took Mr. Hale of Cotton all the way up to the first floor of the store and the work began of talking orders. At all times there will be people in charge of this office who will explain all details of the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" plan.

An enthusiastic Southern merchant—Mr. Benjamin Smith, who has stores in Boston and Mauney, La.—came to the AMERICAN office today to express his thanks on behalf of the Southern merchants for the help being given by the Hearst newspapers to the South.

The Southern merchants have been spending millions of dollars for the past many years to help here a cotton. New England dry goods and shoe stores might be found. The men who are making up the box or around the bale, to any extent because it was released, distinctly that the Jewel case was put in the car before the party left the dock.

Mr. Mattison returned to the hotel.

GERMAN SIEGE GUNS BATTERING VERDUN

city. The forts are keeping up a heavy artillery fire in reply to the German bombardment.

RUSHING BIG GUNS FROM METZ.

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Official announcement was made today that siege guns have been taken from Metz to bombard Verdun and the strong French forts in the vicinity of that stronghold.

"The French are striving to prevent the arrival of these guns," says the official statement, "but they are steadily approaching nearer. The reduction of Verdun cannot be averted when they reach position where they can be operated with full effect."

"The field engagements in France during the twenty-four hours ended at midnight have been minor affairs without any important developments. We hold our positions, there being no appreciable change in the lines."

"The situation in Belgium and the Eastern war theatre is unchanged."

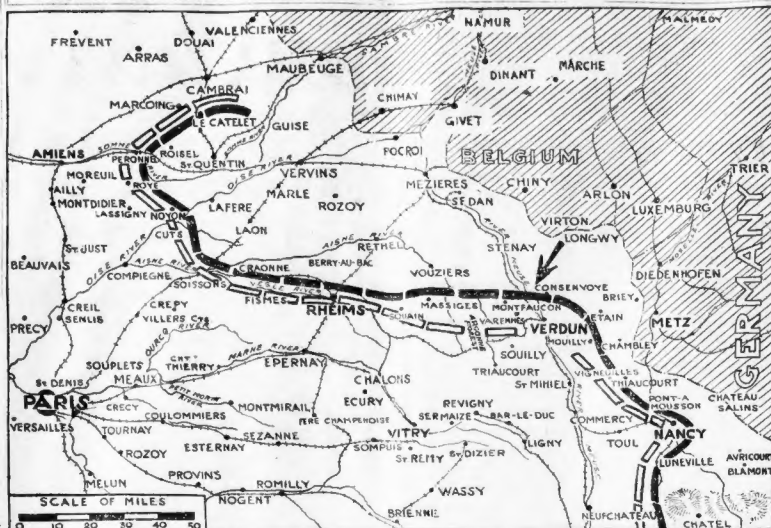

RUSSIAN VICTORY AT PRZEMYSL.

The Russians in Galicia continue their irresistible advance, according to official dispatches from Petrograd. Yesterday's advances had the Czar's troops menacing Tarnopol, an important city far to the west and near the Prussian frontier. A dispatch to London via Rome said the advance guard had already appeared before Cracow, the ancient capital of Galicia, and gateway to the rich German province of Silesia.

Today's announcement shows that the Russians are striking further effective blows in the vicinity of Przemyśl. A sortie by the garrison of this strong fortress has been repulsed, and the Cossacks have taken the fortified towns of Krutskie and Felszyn, opening the way to a final assault on Chyrow, an important railroad centre, Russian Poland, Petrograd states, has been cleared of Germans, and large numbers of the Kaiser's troops are being hurled into East Prussia to check General Rennenkampf's successful advance. The latest Zeeplek in described in the following cable from Ostend:

OSTEND, Sept. 25.—Hundreds of the residents of Ostend fled from here today in terror following a raid by a German Zeppelin airship that dropped three bombs in the southeastern part of the city last night. Panic prevails everywhere.

Diagram of line of battle in France as described by official bulletins. The arrow shows point of fiercest fighting in centre, where German official bulletin says allies were driven out of Varennes yesterday. On extreme left allies took Peronne, tightening net around Von Kluck.

and an order has been issued to burn no lights later than 8 p. m. hereafter.

The aerial bombardment is believed to be the German reply to the challenge of the British aviators, who flew to Düsseldorf and dropped bombs on the Bieckendorf aerodrome.

AGAIN BOMBARD CATHEDRAL.

BORDEAUX, Sept. 25.—German artillery is again bombarding the Cathedral of Notre Dame at Rheims, according to an official announcement issued at the War Office today. It stated that the bombardment was resumed last night. A statement issued at the Foreign Office declares that General Stenger, commander of the Fifty-third brigade of German infantry, issued the following order to his forces:

"Take no prisoners. Shoot all who fall into your hands, singly or in groups. Dispatch the wounded whether armed or unarmed. The Germans must leave no French behind them."

Premier de Broqueville of Belgium announced at Antwerp today that Germany had made fresh proposals for peace with Belgium, but declared that they had been rejected.

The following is evidence that the German naval menace is still a reality:

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The British steamer Indian Prince has been sunk by the German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, the former North German Lloyd liner, off the South American coast, according to a news agency dispatch received from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, today.

TIGHTENING THE CENSORSHIP

The British government has tightened the censorship over press dispatches bearing upon military operations on the continent. As a result the newspapers, practically all of which have staffs of war correspondents in the theatre of hostilities, are hard put to secure live war news.

It is also understood that the British government is dissatisfied with the freedom allowed by the French censor in Paris. It is believed that War Secretary Kitchener contemplates making a suggestion to the French government that the strings of censorship in France be drawn tighter.

THE WAR ELSEWHERE

Other important facts in today's war news are:

A dispatch from Rome that the French fleet has bombarded the signal stations at Lissa, Pelagosa and Lesina, Austrian islands off the Dalmatian coast.

A London cable giving the Admiralty revised list of 779 rescued in the sinking of the Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue by the German submarine, bringing the total of survivors up to 859 out of 2,217 officers and men.

A Rome dispatch relative to anti-Austrian revolts in Bohemia, Austria-Silesia and Croatia:

A London Central News dispatch, that among the last German reservists called in Alsace are thirty Trippier monks:

An official announcement from Antwerp that the Belgians have again taken the offensive against the Germans south of Antwerp, capturing 400 prisoners and three guns.

A Nash, Serbia, dispatch (official), that another attempted invasion by Austrians has been repulsed after bloody fighting.

A Vienna official announcement that the Austrian troops had come in contact with Russian forces in Northern Galicia and driven them back across the Viatska river with heavy loss.

A Queenstown report that the Dutch liner Amstelriddijk, with a number of German reservists, had been captured by a British cruiser.

A Rome report that the Austrian steamer Baron Gautsch had been sunk by a mine in the Adriatic.

Kaiser Wears
Talisman That Won at Sedan

POPEHAGEN, Sept. 25.—The Kaiser's war talisman is a four-leaf clover, green, dried, accented and tucked away in a pocketbook under his great gray coat. All through the war the Emperor has carried it. The talisman was obtained by child-like hands in the meadows of the royal park of Koenigsberg, 1870. The Kaiser believes it will bring him victory as it brought his grandfather's victory after Sedan.

London is beginning to worry over the tremendous British losses in France.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The military expert of the Times says: "The question of officers in the contending armies is going to be serious. Most people have read the letters of the German soldiers to their relatives relating terrible losses in the commissioned ranks. Some regiments appear to be reduced to five and six officers apiece. Some battalions have none left at all."

"A little more than five English infantry divisions (200,000 men) have been engaged, and as each division includes about 600 officers we have lost nearly two officers out of every five in a month's war."

FLEET OF 30 UNKNOWN WAR SHIPS SIGHTED

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A dispatch to the Standard from Copenhagen states that a fishing fleet has arrived at Fülberg, Sweden, which has been in close proximity to a fleet of thirty warships. They were sighted in the vicinity of Anholt, a Danish island in the Kattegat, a large arm of the North Sea, which has Sweden on the east and Finland on the west.

The nationality of the warships has not been divulged. They were steaming down the principal deep water channel on the Swedish side, in a southerly direction toward the exit entrance for large vessels to the Baltic from the North Sea.

The news has caused great excitement here. The Standard is extremely sure that the principal deep water channel on the Swedish side, in a southerly direction toward the exit entrance for large vessels to the Baltic from the North Sea.

TWO BIG BATTLES RAGING

By FRANKLIN P. MERRICK.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Two separate engagements of grand magnitude are raging today upon the great French battle front, with fighting continuing upon the German right flank, from Reims to the Aisne and around the forts at Verdun at the eastern end of the line.

In the center around Rheims the situation remains practically unchanged with a desultory artillery duel in progress.

Fresh British troops have been landed in France and are being rushed to the firing line to support the exhausted soldiers, who have been under fire continuously for more than a month.

It is understood that the British reinforcements are being placed along the line and close to support both the left flank and the center of the line.

FRENCH STILL PRESS ON.
The thirty-third day of the epochal conflict found the French troops still pressing vigorously against the efforts of General von Kluck in their efforts to reach the German right and crush it or force it back.

The German left, which is supposed to contain the armies of the German Crown Prince and German Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, are making violent assaults upon the fortresses of Verdun. The bombardment is described as even more vigorous than that at Reims. Gigantic German siege guns, sent forward from the German fortresses around Metz are being ranged upon the heights around the French city and are sending in a tornado of shells.

The Germans believe that they will soon be able to reduce the French forts, claiming that no defensive line in the world can be impregnable against the tremendous power of the Krupp siege guns.

5,000 SHELLS A DAY.
More than 5,000 shells, each about five feet long and nearly seventeen inches in diameter, are being hurled against the Verdun forts every twenty-four hours.

The Germans have more than 100 heavy guns in action against Verdun. Approximately 125 miles to the northwest of the fighting around Verdun the French and English are pursuing their smashing attacks upon the forces of General von Kluck and General Von Boehn along the Meuse and Aisne.

Fighting with the fury of demons, the French of General D'Amade's army are pressing northward and eastward, never ceasing their pounding against the German lines. The Persone in their hands, they resumed their offensive at dawn today, only to be met with a fierce bombardment from the German guns around Rheims.

15,000 DEAD ON FIELD.
It is impossible to estimate the losses of men of all ranks. The plain east of Verdun is said to be strewn with 15,000 dead awaiting burial. Ten

BARON VON SCHOEN, secretary to the German embassy at Tokio, who has repudiated interview in which he is said to have voiced Japanese hatred toward United States.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Baron von Schoen has personally repudiated the interview in which he was represented as saying that the Japanese hated the American people, and that war between the two countries was inevitable. Wednesday he acknowledged to newspaper men that the interview was authentic. His explanation was accepted by Mr. Lansing, Acting Secretary of the State Department, on whom the German envoy made a call. Mr. Lansing said later that Baron von Schoen mentioned the subject voluntarily while discussing other matters.

Thousand Germans are said to have fallen in the attacks made against the French at Verdun. Westward in the Aronne region, upon the Flacien of Craonne, and still further west to the Oise, the casualties have been staggering. The world will undoubtedly be appalled when the true death figures are given out by the government.

It was learned at the War Office today that the French have captured five aeroplanes, although the location of this exploit was not divulged. The quintette of German Taubas were taken by a French cavalry patrol.

War Personalities and Sidelights

THE LATE POPE PIUS, as one of his last acts, gave his blessing to the Catholic monks who are fighting in the French army.

MRS. EMMELINE PANKHURST, the militant leader, is in London on her way to crush militarism and the earliest approval of women who had fought for political enfranchisement.

CHARLES A. ELLIS, manager of the London "Standard," has been elected for the next service in his office.

BARONESS MARIE VON SCHOEN was sentenced by a London magistrate for failing to register as an alien enemy.

EX-MINISTER LEON GOREAU of France visited Rheims while German shells were falling. He was shown a poster put up throughout the city by the German commander, threatening to burn Rheims.

VLADIMIR BOURTSEFF, the Russian revolutionist, has reached Stockholm on his way to Russia to offer his services to the Russian government. Bourtsieff once escaped from Siberia.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL A. GRANT, of the Black Watch was killed in action. Lieutenant Colonel L. G. Howe, died in hospital of wounds received in action. General C. R. B. is among the wounded, a London cable says.

JOHN A. RAY, United States consul in London who was injured when the liner Rango was sunk by a mine in the North Sea, has resumed his journey to his Russian post.

W. C. BIERWORTH, professor of German at Harvard, just returned, says: "I left Hamburg about a fortnight ago. Then the Germans seemed as confident and enthusiastic as at any time since the outbreak of the war."

Kaiser Planned to Seize French Banks and Debt

Paris, Sept. 25.
GOMEZ CARILLO, the Paris correspondent of the Madrid Liberal, affirms what he says is "indisputable authority" that the Kaiser's plan after taking Paris was to capture President Poincaré and to kidnap the British ambassador.

Further, it was to seize all banks and directors, to place an embargo on exports, and to arrest all persons of international or numerous prominent men.

Next was the confiscation of the public debt, and all in order to force the French people into coercing Germany's peace terms.

This accomplished, an army of 600,000 was to keep order in Eastern and North France, while twenty-five army corps were to be thrown into the West.

The German plan then was to arrive at Petrograd by the end of September or the middle of October.

The Spanish correspondent adds that no confident was there of a Russian victory at the battle of the Marne that he drew the

"Now that the war is on, I am delighted to find that England has a great and able statesman as Sir Edward Grey. He is a man who will lead them in the right way. He is a man who does not say things without meaning them. There is no greater statesman in the world today."

STATE POLICE SHORTAGE IN JOYCE CASE

State Police Officer Elias Smith is probing the case of City Clerk Allison P. Joyce of Medford, who resigned following allegations he is short $2,600 in his accounts. District Attorney Corcoran of Middlesex County announced today.

District Attorney Corcoran has summoned Mayor Taylor and City Solicitor Elder of Medford to appear before him today and tell what they know about the alleged shortage. Mr. Corcoran said that so far as he knows there had been no complaint lodged against Joyce in the Medford District Court.

"Because of the amount involved in the alleged irregularities of City Clerk Joyce's administration of his office the matter is one for the deliberations of the Grand Jury," said District Attorney Corcoran.

Mayor Taylor says he is determined to have the whole conduct of the City Clerk's Department laid full open for the benefit of the citizens and taxpayers.

"Full restitution will be made in the event that after a careful audit of the books of the city clerk's office it is shown that there is a shortage," declares Attorney E. Leroy Sweetser, counsel for Joyce.

"The books of the city clerk's office have not been audited in nearly twenty-three years. It is about time an audit be taken."

Mayor Taylor has issued a call for a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen for tonight to consider Joyce's resignation and also the adoption of a new method of accounting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Miss Edith St. Clair, an actress, testifying in disbarment proceedings brought against Max D. Horan at the instance of A. E. Erlanger, the theatrical manager, repudiates the affidavit upon which the charges were brought.

In the affidavit, made by the actress to William Travers Jerome, counsel to Mr. Erlanger, Miss St. Clair swore her testimony had been "framed-up" by Mr. Jerome.

While an appeal was pending she sought Mr. Jerome, told him she had been induced by him to perform herself and made affidavit to that effect.

She said her conscience smote her and she wished to repeat as far as possible the wrong she had done.

She made the affidavit, she said, because she feared Klaw & Erlanger would bar her from the stage for the remainder of her life.

OPERA SINGER'S HUSBAND HAS BOSTON WIFE

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Miss Sophie Traubmann, a New York opera singer, has arrived in England, where she is expected to marry her husband, the composer, with a new wife who has married at New York City Hall, September 1, but who turned out to be an alleged blasphemer with a wife in Boston and another in London.

His name is George Albert Schneider, who says he is engaged in his promotion in New York and London. When Schneider stepped off the train at Euston station a woman who says she is his English wife was there to meet him.

While she was comparing notes with Mrs. Traubmann, Schneider introduced himself to a woman who said she was his English wife. "I had been a widow six years and had long been considering remarriage."

"We landed at Montreal and tried to marry there, but finding it impossible, went to New York, where a license was issued at the City Hall, September 1. We celebrated our honeymoon at my own apartment in Sixty-fifth street."

"I went West and a day or two later I joined him in London. These Schneider brothers and I had been duped, that had married a woman with a wife living in Boston, now making her own living by running a tea room."

"After a day or two in Cleveland with his father's family, Schneider returned in front of me and his entire family he was in reality still married. I was insane with excitement, but we completed preparations for departure for Europe. I desired to hush the matter up in Sixty-fifth street."

MINISTERS MAY WEAR CRAPE TO CLOSE OF WAR

Many New England ministers are considering wearing a piece of crape upon the lapel of their coats till the end of the European war.

This they intend to do as a silent protest against the war. Professor Walter Dunsenbach of Rochester University, N. Y., a well known Baptist minister, inaugurated the custom in the Boston Congregationalists. In the current issue he says:

I propose for myself to wear a bit of crape on my coat lapel for the remaining duration of the war. This will at the same time serve me as a kind of pledge that I will use all possible efforts to hasten the end of the war. Boston, in its 'Covenant of Wild Olive,' suggests that all 'crimes' should wear mourning during war.

I call upon all ministers to wear crape, as they are the recognized leaders of moral and social reform in their several communities.

TART WRITES TO ELDER.

The minister of Tart, who is a protest against the war will come up formally before the meeting of Congregational ministers in Plimpton Hall next Monday morning.

Thomas F. Tart, who was invited to speak at the mass peace meeting Sunday at the Plimpton Hall, in Trinity Church, under the auspices of the Boston Peace Society, has written to Samuel J. Elder, president of the society that he cannot be present at the meeting and sends a letter of greeting, which will be read at the time.

President Elder, who is arranging for this meeting, says:

"We must do all in our power for permanent peace. These meetings in the interests of peace can have this much in mind. Those who are asking 'What is the use of talking peace at this juncture of affairs?' need to be reminded that the end of war is to be prepared for. This time we are all working towards that end."

Instead of having the third Hague conference in 1915, we should have it in 1914, and it might be well to suggest that the United States call that conference.

PRaises HEARBY PAPERS.

Dr. J. W. Hearby, who is securing on peace in the State under the auspices of the Massachusetts Peace Society, praised the publicity given the cause of peace by the Hearby newspapers.

Among other matters, he is addressing meetings all through the State in the interests of permanent peace.

"There is nothing so essential at this time, for it is very opportune as this advocacy of permanent peace," he said.

"But now there are a few other matters. I would like to have you stand a longer for peace with an ally branch in its own right. The symbol of peace I would like to have in the hands of the people. The symbol of peace is that torch. It is a new light that stands out before the world. That's my idea of the symbol of peace."

In our school histories we should show our hand for peace. I believe many of them should be rewritten. We can get at the details of history without much of the present truth. One of these histories of our nation was intimately associated with war and nothing else.

"Peace is the mark of progress. Peace and spirit, business, and industry. The peace exercises to be held in the Boston public schools on Friday, October 2, are an excellent move. The child mind must be taught more than the adult about peace and taught it in an interesting way."

"War and the Peace Movement" will be the title of the forthcoming convention of the Progressive Women in Tremont Temple, October 2. The chief address will be given by Dr. Hudson.

Names are still going into the office of the AMERICAN for people making peace advances. The following have been received:

Joseph, Hamilton, No. 215 Highland Avenue.

St. M. Knight, Isle of Pines, W. I.

St. M. Knight, No. 219 Highland street, Boston.

GEN. HORACE PORTER URGES U. S. TO NAME PEACE JUDGES

General Horace Porter, formerly Ambassador to France, delegate to the Hague Peace Conference of 1907, one of the most valiant soldiers of the Civil War, a member of General Grant's staff and later secretary of the Grant Monument Association, has sent the following telegram in response to a message from the editor of the AMERICAN telling of the plans for the Sunday Peace Pilgrimage. General Porter is president of the Grant Monument Association.

"Bar Harbor, Maine.

"September 25, 1914.

"William Randolph Hearst,

"The AMERICAN."

"In selecting from among the many epigrams uttered by General Grant, the one chosen to be engraved upon his tomb was 'Let Us Have Peace.' For the stern warrior had become the great pacificator. Every right thinking person today is favorable to peace, but to stop war is it absolutely necessary to substitute for it a practical and satisfactory method of settling international disputes which will command itself to the nations."

"Ordinary arbitration has unfortunately not often accomplished its purpose. Evidence and are apt to be suspected of being under the political influence of their respective countries, and when it too often results in a compromise satisfactory to neither party."

"The delegates to the Hague conference believed there should be established a high permanent international court, composed of able judges selected by the nations, which would decide cases brought before them purely upon the naked facts established upon the record, and our American delegation proposed a project for such a court, which was discussed at great length, and embodied many valuable suggestions from the delegates of other nations."

"In its final shape the proposed international court was approved by the nations, but it was not within the province of the delegates to select the judges, and as their appointment would require much time and consideration, their selection was left to the various nations. Unfortunately, they have neglected to complete this work."

"It behooves the many peace societies to concentrate their effort to urge upon this government the selection of judges of the proposed high court. It would bear the same relation to the nations as the Supreme Court bears to the United States, and it is believed it would in time establish itself in the confidence of all the powers."

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—A monster parade, four miles in length and viewed by more than 100,000 persons, street demonstrations ever held in this city, and a mass meeting attended by tens of thousands of people, were the expression of the hope of the people of Los Angeles for speedy restoration of peace in Europe and the earnest demand that the American government lose no opportunity to contribute to that end.

At the meeting resolutions were adopted by unanimous standing ovation, voting a plea to President Wilson to express to the nations at war the earnest hope of the American people that they declare a truce.

READY FOR BIG PEACE MEETING

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Colonel Henry W. Hayden, secretary of the Grant Monument Association, has sent this stirring endorsement of the peace pilgrimage to the tomb of General Grant, being organized by the New York American for Sunday afternoon, September 27:

Lake George, N. Y., Sept. 25, 1914.

Editor of New York American:

Prayers for peace are in the heart and upon the lips of all the thousands of people who are out today in striking contrast with the horrors of war. The time has come to remind our people of the words of the illustrious General Grant: 'Let us have peace,' and I am in full sympathy with your proposed pilgrimage to his tomb, to emphasize his prayer and honor his sentiment.

HENRY W. HAYDEN.

The immortal words of General Grant: 'Let us have peace' will be echoed throughout the city and surrounding country on Sunday. The thousands of people who are out today in striking contrast with the horrors of war. The time has come to remind our people of the words of the illustrious General Grant: 'Let us have peace,' and I am in full sympathy with your proposed pilgrimage to his tomb, to emphasize his prayer and honor his sentiment.

One thousand people will be stationed at several hundred traffic points throughout the city from 10 o'clock until 1 o'clock. The automobile is required to halt there at the salute of the peace flag during those hours and rates of peace. The great volunteer army of automobiles flying banners are urged to join the pilgrimage up to the tomb of General Grant.

The Sixty-third Regiment Band, which is to play the 'Star Spangled Banner' followed by the 'Peace March' will be in the line. The band will start at 1 o'clock and continue to 4 o'clock. The Washington Irving High School girls' band will start at 1 o'clock and continue to 4 o'clock. The 'Star Spangled Banner' followed by the 'Peace March' will be in the line.

"GOOD"---said Mr. Pickwick, smacking his lips, "Very good, I'll take another. Cool; very cool. Come, gentlemen, a toast---Our friends at Dingley Dell."

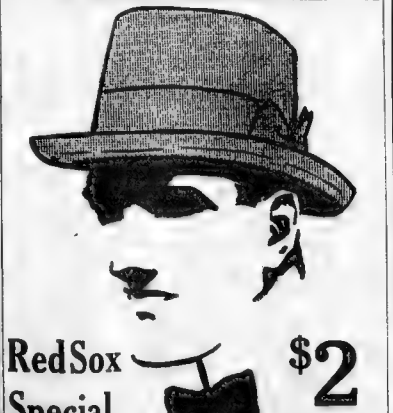

Everybody wants another when Pickwick Ale is served---Its delicious flavor hits the spot.

Are you a member of the Pickwick Club?

A nickel buys a glass of "Pickwick."

That is the price of the first initiation---after that you are a life member.

For Business Men, Especially Advertisers

And yet MORE Especially for Business Men That Are NOT Advertisers.

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

You keep a store with something for sale in it. HOW MANY PEOPLE PASS YOUR STORE? If FEW pass your store, you know that you are in the wrong location and you move.

Nobody can say to you, "Mr. Business Man, I have a nice little store in a nice little quiet side street; come over there and do business. I think you will like it."

To that you would reply, "My poor friend, I WANT the crowd. I must be on a great thoroughfare. I understand my business. Keep your quiet, nice little neighborhood. I want my store on the busiest street."

Your advertisement is the window of your store. In the advertisement, as in the window, people see what you have to sell. And in the advertisement they see what they cannot see in your window, WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY ABOUT YOUR BUSINESS PRINCIPLES.

The advertisement is a business window that appeals to the EYE, the EAR, the INTELLIGENCE. It displays goods and pictures. IT TALKS TO YOUR FELLOW CITIZENS THAT MAY BECOME CUSTOMERS.

How many people pass your display window called the advertisement?

Think over that.

We are not writing this editorial to promote our own business, any more than to promote yours.

Put your store where you will, but put it where the CROWD will see it.

Put your advertisement where you will, but put it where the CROWD will see it.

Don't put a store in a little side street to enjoy the quietness and the absence of business.

Don't put an advertisement in a little side street newspaper to enjoy the quietness and the absence of business.

One great merchant in this country prepares beautiful advertisements—extraordinary talent is displayed in them—and some of those advertisements might as well be hung up in his private dining room as in the newspapers that he uses.

There are thousands of merchants, manufacturers, business men thoroughly understanding everything in their line EXCEPT PUBLICITY.

And without understanding publicity, the business man of today cannot achieve his great success, for he cannot get his store window in FRONT OF THE BIG CROWD.

Let others speak for themselves.

The circulation of this newspaper, as testified to under oath, was 371,911 daily, and 352,937 Sunday, for the six months ending March 31.

The circulation since that time has been bigger. It exceeded, for instance, 380,000 per day in April, May, June and July, and 430,000 net paid per day in August.

In this newspaper is, of course, THE GREAT CROWD, not only of Boston, but of the whole of New England.

The intelligent business man uses and sees opportunity.

When a subway station is opened, when great crowds appear, the corners go up in value, intelligent men are eager to seize them.

When newspaper intelligence creates the greatest circulation in New England—as the Boston AMERICAN has done—intelligent merchandising seizes upon it.

Except that it is painful to hurt the feelings of those in distress, we could point to gentlemen whose complications and worries would be considerably less if they had put their advertising display window before the great crowd, instead of locating it in little, quiet, "respectable" back streets.

If you want to know what kind of people read the Boston AMERICAN ask your neighbor.

The Boston AMERICAN has the greatest circulation in New England.

It has established itself, outgotten competition, made critics ridiculous.

When we tell you that you ought to put your ADVERTISING DISPLAY WINDOW before the great crowd, we make the statement BECAUSE IT IS OF PUBLIC IMPORTANCE, HELPFUL TO BUSINESS MEN.

HOW MANY PEOPLE PASS YOUR WINDOW NOW?

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

A thousand factories in more than 100 cities and towns in New England—most of them within fifty miles of Boston—annually manufacture 140,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes, valued at upwards of $300,000,000.

KNOWLEDGE

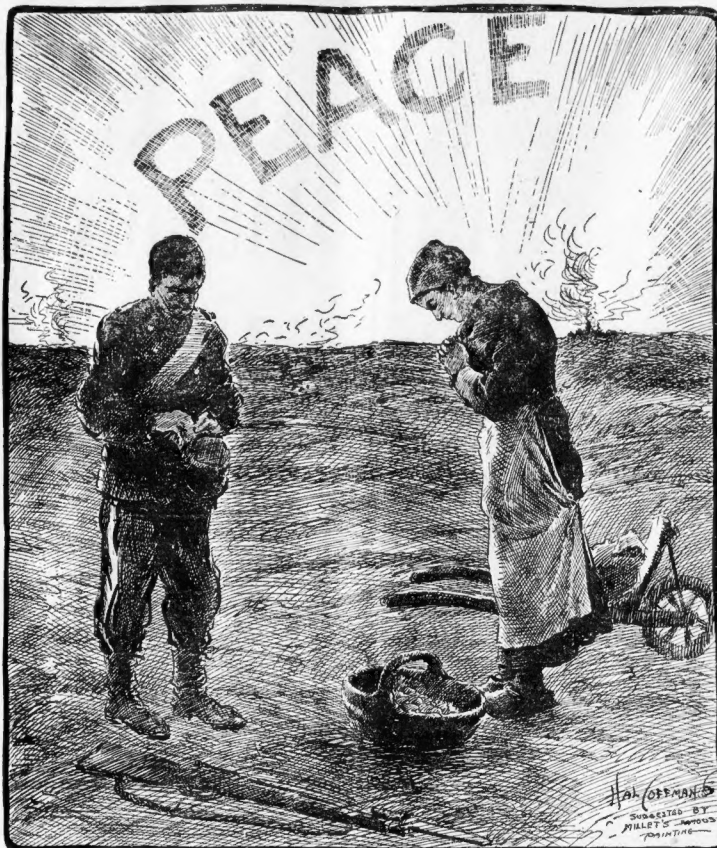

By CONSTANCE CLARKE

LAST night my thoughts were young and gay;
Into the dark they fled away
Like fiery steeds that mock me,
Who could not hold them, galloped free.
With eyes aflame and heads held high,
They tore across the tender sky,
Stopping for nothing in their flight,
That I might have the gift of night.

And now they trembling come to me,
Looking for shelter. Can they be
Those same wild thoughts that stormed their flight,
Star maddened, only just last night?
How valorous they were, and how
They bend their neck heads to me now,
How little from the path they stray
Beneath the yoke they wear to-day.

Men, Not Women, Curious

If You Want Proof, Look at the Crowds
Gaping at Everyday Occurrences in the Streets

By DOROTHY DIX

"ONE of the things that always convince me of the superiority of the mighty masculine intellect to the poor, feeble feminine mind," said the woman in gray as she dropped another lump of sugar into her teacup, "is the calm way with which men lay their little weaknesses out—and get away with it."

"Now, there's curiosity, for instance. Ever since that apple incident in the Garden of Eden, the feminine sex has been called the curious sex, and men have derided and gaped at other people's affairs, and nosing around into things that were none of our business."

"And we've accepted it all as gospel truth, and let men convince us that we had more curiosity than they had, whereas the truth is that women have no curiosity at all compared to men."

"Take, for example, such a common everyday occurrence as the holding of a sale by means of pulleys and ropes up to a third or fourth story window. In every city in the world that does every day. There's nothing new or startling about it. Probably there isn't a city man living who hasn't seen it done dozens of times, yet every time the act is performed such a big crowd will gather around it that it will stop traffic in the street."

"And among this throng of idly curious people there will not be one curious woman. Every one of them will be a man."

"And look at the crowds, thousands of them, that stand banked up before the bulletin boards that give the baseball scores. They are made up of men, all men. Women can restrain their curiosity enough to wait and read about who won in the newspapers that come out every hour, but not men. It's significant of how much more curious men are than women that no event, no matter how interested women are in it, has ever been of sufficient importance to make them stand for hours in a crowd waiting to hear about it, yet men do that every day."

"And it's man's curiosity that has made him delve into things and wrest her secrets from nature."

"Women are satisfied to know that certain things do certain things without knowing why, but that eternal way piques a man's curiosity until he finds out. But he doesn't call it curiosity. He calls it original research."

"Now, I'm an admirer of curiosity. It's a sign of intelligence, and of a mind that is alive and alert. It's also an indication of humanity. It's only fools and people who are carelessly selfish who have no interest in the things and people about them. Curiosity is a virtue and not a vice, and men are our superiors in possessing it. Men constitute the curious sex. Just watch them and see."

In the Sunday AMERICAN will be printed for the first time a remarkable series of pictures of leading scenes and incidents which marked the coronation of Pope Benedict XV. in the historic Sistine Chapel. The photographs were made at the most solemn periods in the coronation mass. As reproductions of a momentous occasion in the history of the world and of the Catholic church the pictures will be worthy of appreciation by the readers of the Sunday AMERICAN, Catholic and non-Catholic alike.
